Come join us for what should be an amazing tasting of Burgundy wine. We'll be doing two flights of 2012 William Fèvre Chablis followed by two flights of 2010 premier cru pinots.

The Fèvre

The 2012 vintage was a superb one in Burgundy, and William Fèvre is one of the greatest producers of a wide variety of grand cru and premier cru Chablis. This domaine delivers at the highest levels for a fraction of the cost of its competitors. Although made with chardonnay, the wines are very different from those of California; made with less oak than California chardonnays and more use of stainless steel vats. Fèvre's vineyards sit on deep clay-limestone soils. Their wines typically are rich and complex, and have a clean, crisp minerality, often with a hint of citrus, lemon, and/or melon-like flavors. Come taste for yourself!

The Pinots

How often do you get to try premier cru aged red Burgundy wines at such an amazing price (with brunch thrown in)? The Society put down in its wine cellar a selection of 2010 Pinot Noir wines that roughly run south to north of the Côte d'Or region in Burgundy. Now after nearly 8 years of perfect aging it is time to sample the result.
